Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 9/23/04 has been entered.

Response to Amendment

2. In the amendment filed 9/23/04, the following has occurred: claims 1, 11, and 20 have been amended. Now, claims 1-24 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1, 3-9, 11, 13-18, 20, and 22-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mitcham, U.S. Patent No. 5,537,315 in view of Jones et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,239,462.

5. As per claim 1, Mitcham teaches a method of generating an insurance quote for an individual, comprising the steps of: obtaining data from an applicant for insurance (see column 5, lines 12-28); automatically underwriting an insurance risk for an item using the data obtained from the applicant (see column 6, lines 4-10); and generating and providing an insurance quote to the applicant wherein the insurance quote is for the provision of insurance to cover the item (see column 6, lines 10-25).

6. Mitcham does not explicitly teach determining the acceptability of a loan, obtaining data from a lender's database and using the data to underwrite a corresponding insurance risk, and advising the applicant of the acceptability of the loan contemporaneously with providing the insurance quote. Jones teaches a method for determining the approval status of a potential borrower (see column 3, lines 23-31); and further utilizing the method to provide data regarding the potential borrower to an insurance provider to permit follow-up with the potential borrower (see column 3, lines 23-31 and column 7, lines 31-45). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art of automobile financial services to incorporate this feature of connecting insurance providers and lenders for the purpose of further decreasing the amount of time needed to purchase and insure a vehicle by a potential customer (see column 4, lines 17-24).

7. As per claim 3, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham further teaches the insurance quote is provided by an insurance provider (see column 6, lines 1-4).

8. As per claim 4, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham further teaches the step of underwriting the insurance risk includes the additional steps of: providing a plurality of insurance companies for underwriting the insurance risk (see column 5, lines 58-65); and determining a set of terms for each of the plurality of insurance companies for which each of the plurality of insurance companies will accept the insurance risk (see column 5, line 66 – column 6, line 4).

9. As per claim 5, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 4 as described above. Mitcham further teaches the additional step of selecting one of the sets of terms and providing the insurance quote in response thereto (see column 6, lines 15-19).

Art Unit: 3626

10. As per claim 6, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham further teaches the additional step of determining if additional data is needed prior to underwriting the insurance risk and if the additional data is needed, conducting the step of obtaining the additional data from the applicant (see column 6, lines 39-45).

11. As per claim 7, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham further teaches the additional steps: storing the data after providing the insurance quote (see column 8, lines 38-41); and providing an additional insurance quote in response to a request by the applicant (see column 8, lines 55-59).

12. As per claim 8, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham further teaches the step of requesting permission from the applicant prior to obtaining data from additional sources (see column 43-58).

13. As per claim 9, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham further teaches a second portion of the data is obtained from a third party (see column 7, lines 55-61).

14. Claims 11, 13-18, 20, and 22-23 contain substantially similar limitations to claims 1 and 3-9 and, as such, are rejected for similar reasons as given above.

15. Claims 2, 12, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mitcham, U.S. Patent No. 5,537,315 in view of Jones et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,239,462 and further in view of Danilunas et al., U.S. Patent no. 6,263,320.

16. As per claim 2, Mitcham in view of Danilunas teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham does not explicitly teach providing the insurance quote by the lender. Danilunas teaches a method for utilizing a financial product for the financing of an automobile purchase and further providing automobile insurance to the potential purchaser of the automobile (see column 5, lines 5-24). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art of automobile financial services to incorporate this feature of connecting insurance providers and lenders for the purpose of enabling the selling of such insurance services at a discounted rate (see column 5, lines 5-7 of Danilunas).

17. Claims 12 and 21 contain substantially similar additional limitations to claim 2 and, as such, are rejected for similar reasons as given above.

18. Claims 10, 19, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mitcham, U.S. Patent No. 5,537,315 in view of Jones et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,239,462 and further in view of Dugas, Not the total solution Bankruptcy stays on credit reports.

19. As per claim 10, Mitcham in view of Jones teach the method of claim 1 as described above. Mitcham does not explicitly teach that the third party is a credit bureau. Dugas discloses third party reporting of information for an application for insurance (see paragraph 7). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art of insurance processing at the time of the invention to include the step of obtaining data in the system of Mitcham from a third party as disclosed by Dugas. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to perform such a step for the purpose of determining applicant's who pose a bad credit risk (see paragraph 8 of Dugas).

20. Claims 19 and 24 contain substantially similar additional limitations to claim 10 and, as such, are rejected for similar reasons as given above.

Response to Arguments

21. In the remarks filed 9/23/04, Applicants' argue in substance that the combination of Mitcham and Danilunas fails to teach certain features of claims 1, 11, and 20 as amended. The

Art Unit: 3626

Examiner respectfully submits that these arguments have been fully considered but are now moot in view of the new grounds of rejection detailed above.
